Magic Johnson Foundation and Bristol-Myers Squibb Partner To 'Secure The Future'

SECTION: eENTERTAINMENT, TELEVISION, AND CULTURE

LENGTH: 118 words

DATELINE: BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., April 14

To announce the partnership between the Magic Johnson Foundation and Bristol-Myers Squibb's "Secure The Future," Earvin 'Magic' Johnson and Miss Universe, Mpule Kwelagobe, unveil hand-beaded jackets designed by African-American celebrities on Thursday, April 13 in Beverly Hills, CA. Hand-beaded by women in Africa, the jackets will be auctioned on eBay over the next several months with proceeds going towards providing care and support for women and children in Sub-Saharan Africa with HIV/AIDS.
